

I quit watching Network and Cable news when they lost balance and perspective and became solely interested in 'entertaining' the masses. Sound bites, carefully edited clips, selective reporting, all add up to promulgating a particular point of view for personal/corporate agendas. I choose to form an informed opinion regarding world events based on a variety of sources so as not to be tainted by any one particular selfserving interest. Allowing communication conglomerates to shape the views of the masses for their own selfish personal/corporate agendas is un-American and should not be tolerated.
